15th August: Darkest Chapter Of History

15th August is the day of national mourning. It's a day when all beings of the whole Bengal, even nature drop tears. Because, this day of August, back in 1975 it seemed like this rainy August and brutal bloodshed of the Father of the Nation Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman were the representation of the weeping of the sky itself crying out of extreme grievance.

The time when the murderers were brushing firing all the family members of Bangabandhu at the hour just before dawn, it was raining, as if nature was weeping. Frightened Bangladesh against the raised firearms was all bemused in mourning and the unexpected sudden shock. This flame of bereavement will burn for epochs to come. 15th August is the day to recite lamentation, the 47th anniversary of the martyrdom of the architect of independence Father of the Nation Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujibur Rahman.
